THE CARMELPINE ONE

Beauty Wins Prizes But Humor Is Noted In Xmas Decorations

Carmel painter Erica Franke was responsible for three sets of decorations which earned top prizes in the annual Christmas decorating contest sponsored by the Carmel Business Association.

First award in the outdoor decoration category went to Sade's Restaurant for a stunning Franke mural posted over the entrance representing the Three Wise Men. A companion piece to the outdoor mural hangs over the fireplace in Sade's dining room, which also features its traditional old-fashioned tree.

Putnam and Raggett earned first place in the indoor decorations division with artist Franke's gay and fanciful angel cutouts hung in driftwood-trees, matching the store's window decorations.

Second place in the outdoor division went to Gene and Parvin for the cheerful Christmas scene Erica painted on the windows of their new restaurant on Dolores Street, while third prize went to the Heritage Antique Shop and The Wells' Music-Store for their joint decoration depicting a fire-side at Christmas. The Carmel Fire Department earned honorable mention for its firehouse display of colored lights and Christmas greenery.

A stylized white Christmas tree decorated with candles and over-size gold balls won second place in the indoor category for Louisa Furs. Third award went to Tom's Cafe for its east-meets-west Christmas tree decorated with gaily colored silk lanterns. Christmas toys painted by Woods School teacher Frons Thayer took an honorable mention for Vining's Meat Market window.

There just weren't enough prizes to go around for all the clever and original decorations around town. Among the other standouts: The Mexican Christmas decorations at Su Vecino, featuring two beautiful pinatas made by Mrs. August Nieto—one of them a ruffled and be-jeweled white paper pig with long-lashed brown eyes; the window decoration at Kenneth E. Wood's real estate office, executed by Henry Pancher, and centered on a Christmas goose made of driftwood, with turquoise eyes and a pink ostrich-plume tail, sitting on a nest of pink and gold Christmas ornaments; the tasteful and handsome "stained-glass" panel framed with greens in the window of Robert Kirk's; the gay greens and tinsel decorations of the areaway leading to the Der-Ling Gift Shop; and "Carmel's only orange tree", in front of the Boot and Saddle, its scraggy branches hung with every conceivable type of ornament and a picture of Pon Chung, who, according to the printed legend, planted the tree a decade or so ago.

Contest judges were Mrs. Robert Aurner of the Carmel Art Association, City Councilman Carl Patnude, and Don Craig of the planning commission. First prizes were pen and pencil desk sets; runners-up received silver cigarette boxes.

GOLDEN BOUGH ANNOUNCES BOOKING TIEUP WITH TWO SAN FRANCISCO THEATRES

The board of directors of the Golden Bough Playhouse has made arrangements with Henry Pincus of the Clay and Larkin theatres for a complete buying and booking tieup with the two San Francisco motion picture houses.

Mr. Pincus has announced that "all of the outstanding European films playing or to be played in San Francisco will be seen locally, bringing to Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula only the higher type attractions."

First of the pictures will be the new Italian comedy, Bread, Love and Dreams, with Gina Lollobrigida and Vittorio de Sica in the starring roles. The show will open at the Golden Bough on Thursday, December 30.

Miss Sally McPhail's Sixth Grade SANTA'S CHRISTMAS EVE

One night Santa was thinking about Christmas and he said, "I don't get to play with the toys after the elves make them. I think I should have time out from doing the other work to play with the toys."

"I think so, too," said Mrs. Santa. They tried to think how Santa could play with the toys more. Suddenly Mrs. Santa said, "I have an idea", and whispered something in Santa's ear. Santa thought it was a great idea. When Santa went out on Christmas Eve he played with the toys at every house where he stopped. And so it goes every Christmas Eve.

CHRISTMAS CLASS PROJECT

Miss McPhail's class decided to adopt a family for Christmas. Our class brought canned foods and toys. These will go to a family which is poor or to a family that has a father or mother in the hospital that can't support their family.

WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS

TO ME

Some people think Christmas is for getting presents. Christmas really is a day to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. So on Christmas morning when you are opening your presents remember Jesus.

—Paul Rice

WHAT I THINK OF CHRISTMAS

I think Christmas is a day to be happy and gay. And to get what you wished for and be thankful. I think it is fun to hang your socks by the fireplace and decorate a Christmas tree with beautiful ornaments and glittering lights and beautiful tinsel. On Christmas Eve I can hardly sleep wondering what I will receive from Santa Claus. I will have sugar plums dancing in my head. Then suddenly I hear a noise and out of the chimney comes a fat little man with a big red nose and a long white beard and all covered with soot from head to foot. As he rides away he will yell "Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."—David Roberts

POTTERS' DAUGHTER HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Chelnov of Paris and their children Sandra and Michael have arrived here to spend Christmas with Mrs. Chelnov's parents, the Zenos Potters. This is the first visit to California in 10 years for Mrs. Chelnov, the former Jean Potter, who last visited her parents while working on the staff of Fortune magazine. The Potters will entertain 21 guests at a family Christmas dinner tomorrow.

Dear Editor:

On the subject of "topped Pine trees", discussed at length in your column of the 17th, my words as I remember them were "When a pine like this one has to be topped it is better to take it out." Perhaps the use of the word "topped" was ill advised, "decapitated" would have better described this particular tree.

The tree is still standing, "decapitated", about 60 feet west of the corner of 5th and Mission on the south side of the street, and will be there for a week or two before its removal. I suggest that anyone concerned about the judgment of the council in ordering its removal, inspect it in person. An attempt was made to save the tree earlier this year, by removing about thirty feet of the top (completely dead) leaving a forty foot trunk with 8 or 10 branches. None of the remaining branches were of the strong type that might grow into a new top, in fact half of them are now dead. Beauty, the main reason for the preservation of a tree, is gone. The removal will leave room for a new one with a better chance to grow, with more light, air and root space.

From time to time, councils past and present have ordered the removal of trees that were not yet dead. Dangerous trees, leaning trees, trees with rotted trunks, trees cut and trimmed so that further amputation seemed useless. To interpret my personal opinion on topped pines as a reversal of policy seems unwarranted. This council has shown no marked tendency to make policy on the basis of the personal opinion of any member, least of all my own.

The council has changed its policy on planting trees, and we are now planting trees at the rate of 100 a year. This is none too many, since about 50 old trees are dying each year. This rate of loss may increase due to the fact that most of the city trees are nearing maturity, while our planting program is at least 10 years behind. I believe that the record will show that no trees have been removed except for good and sufficient reason and that the present policy will, in the long run, result in more and better trees in Carmel. I trust that you will give space to this communication.

Yours truly,
Francis Whitaker

Dear Francis:

I have looked at the tree and I agree that it is a sad little specimen, but I do not agree that it should be cut down, for reasons which I shall go into in our next issue, starting out the New Year right, with an argument.

But this is Peace On Earth Issue, and in this one edition of the Pine Cone I love everybody, even the street commissioner. So Merry Christmas, dry powder snow, happy skiing!

—Wilma Cook

Chris Neddersen came out of retirement to take over the duties of Carmel City Tax and License Collector in July, 1953.

Retirement Plan Deprives City Of Chris Neddersen

The town will soon be aware that, with all its advantages, there is one very sour element in the state retirement plan the Carmel citizens bought for their city employees last month. From now on, the state instead of the city decides at what age our employees are to retire. The age limits are set arbitrarily, without consideration for the employees' wishes or their still effective skills. Four of our city employees are thus forced to retire within the next two months. One of them is Chris Neddersen, city tax and license collector.

"Chris" came out of retirement to take the job a year and a half ago, and he has enjoyed it, and for a while, at least, will miss it almost as much as Carmel visitors to the city clerk's office will miss him.

Though Chris, a man of exceptional tact and gentleness, would not say it, his job with the city of Carmel could hardly have been much of a challenge for a man of his administrative training and experience. Yet he was too energetic not to want to work, when the opportunity offered, and too sympathetic not to want to have frequent contact with people for gracious and skilful handling of people is one of his talents, a necessary one for the jobs he has held during his successful career.

He was administrative assistant for 14 years for the San Jose Hospital. He was in charge of the hospital's fiscal affairs and was

Our French Angel Is Now Italian

We are not surprised to find that our Pine Cone Christmas Cover Angel has an Italian look about him. Our cover artist, Patricia Cunningham, returned two weeks ago from several months' painting in Rome. The fruits of that work will be on exhibition at the Carmel Art Association Gallery in a one-man show early next year. Carmelites who are familiar with the living and growing art of Mrs. Cunningham are predicting that this show will go on the museum gallery tour, as did her French exhibition following her painting trip to Paris in 1953.

Conservation Groups Win In Mt. Rainier Tramway Tussle

C. Edward Graves has just received a wire from the Washington Office of the National Parks Association saying that Secretary of Interior McKay has said no to a tramway in Mt. Rainier National Park.

Graves, who is Western Representative of the National Parks Association and makes his headquarters in Carmel, attended the hearings called by the National Park Service at Seattle last August at which the concessionaires, the Automobile Club of Washington State, backed by Governor Langlie, asked permission to construct the tramway to "develop" Mt. Rainier.

The National Parks Association, the Sierra Club and other conservation groups opposed the tramway vigorously saying the tramway would destroy the scenic values of the area and that the act of Congress creating the national parks specifies that they are set aside for protection of the primitive landscape.

Carmel Churches Announce Plans For Christmas

The feast of Christmas will be observed in Carmel's churches with special services today and tomorrow as well as Sunday.

Carmel Mission will open its Christmas weekend observance this morning, when confessions for children will be held from 10:00 until noon. General confessions will be heard from 2:00 to 6:00 this afternoon, and from 7:30 to 10:00 o'clock this evening.

Christmas will be welcomed with the celebration of Solemn High Mass at midnight; doors will open at 11:30 o'clock. The Mission choir, under director-organist Noel Sullivan, will sing the Kyrie from Schumann's First Mass of Christmas; Gloria and Credo from Missa Solemnis by Nicola Mon-tani; Sanctus and Benedictus from Rufino's Missa Cantata in Fa; and Agnus Dei from Robert Cormack's Mass of the Cherubim.

Low Mass will be celebrated at the Mission on Christmas Day at 7:00, 8:00, 9:30, 11:00 and 12:15 o'clock. Regular Low Masses will be held Sunday at 7:00, 8:00 and 9:30 o'clock, with High Mass at 11:00 o'clock.

The Church of the Wayfarer will have two Christmas Eve services. The first, at 4:00 o'clock, will be Holy Communion, to be conducted by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray assisted by Dr. E. Leigh Mudge and the Rev. Charles H. Burrill. Connell K. Carruth will be organist, and Luraine Dearing will play Malotte's The Lord's Prayer on the marimba.

The Wayfarer's midnight service will open at 11:00 o'clock, and will feature carols sung in the candle-light church and the story of Christmas in prose, poetry and song. Lynn Brecks, tenor, will sing Schubert's Ave Maria and Jesu Bambino by Yon. The Chapel quartet, directed by Mrs. Ralph W. Marsh, will be heard in a series of Christmas selections. Dr. Gray will read the story, Rock Crystal, by Adalbert Stifter.

Regular services will be held at the Wayfarer Sunday, with church school at 9:15 and 10:45 and church services at 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock. There will be no services Christmas Day.

All Saints' Church will open its special Christmas Eve observance (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Maura Murphy, Carmel's Helen Lane, Has Scope For Her Great Talent In Television Part Of Dr. Mary Walker

By HARRIET KEEN ROBERTS

It is a pity that Television's Number 7 is the least successful channel in Carmel. For Helen Lane's many friends here and her many acquaintances who delighted in her beauty and charm, when she worked in the Village Book Shop for Miss Griffin, wanted to see her when she had the leading role in Cavalcade of America last week. Friends of friends of mine are "on the cable", so I was able to see Helen through only a little of what appeared to be Los Angeles' smog.

The play was A Medal for Miss Walker and showed us the struggles of one of the first women surgeons in her efforts to get a commission as a doctor in the Northern Army during the Civil War, to be permitted to wear an officer's uniform, to be allowed even to practice her skill in aid of the wounded. So great was the prejudice and opposition encountered by Dr. Mary Walker that she finally appealed to Lincoln. The President backed her up and she ended by being the first woman to receive the Congressional

"Thank you" to Mr. Everett Smith through the courtesy of your columns. My feeling is shared, I am sure, by all Carmelites, and by all the drivers on Highway Number One when "they lift up their eyes unto the hills." For there, a mysterious pyramid of glowing light and beauty, is Mr. Everett Smith's Christmas gift to us all. Each year I forget about it and each year it gives me the shock of a little miracle. It seems to hang in the night sky like a star, for it appears higher than my daytime memories of the mountain on which it stands. Each year I think "Perhaps the guiding star may have looked like that to the Wise Men" and Mr. Smith's generosity makes the lovely Epiphany story more real to me: I seem to remember that Robert Louis Stevenson cited, as a proof of the goodness in the hearts of men, that some of them "planted apple trees in their old age." I shall choose to remember that Mr. Everett Smith lighted a tree on the Santa Lucia mountains above Point Lobos to gladden the eyes and hearts of strangers.

You no doubt took notice that Mrs. N. of the R.C. did not deny the existence of the letter that Mr. Craig mentioned. The public parking lot was not mentioned in the petition that was mailed to property owners concerning the R.C.

The Editor, Carmel Pine Cone:

It is high time the Carmel Street Department received some well-deserved compliments. Two recent incidents have left me so impressed with the department's efficiency that I feel an urge to do a little un-berating.

In one instance, the shoulder of 10th Ave. at Monte Verde had begun to assume the proportions of the Grand Canyon. In fact, an MG which a misguided owner tried to park in front of our gate was almost lost forever. Knowing that as a result of the recent rains this condition existed more or less all over town with the kind of streets we have (and want to keep), it was with much trepidation that I mentioned my troubles to Commissioner Francis Whitaker. Result: the front-gate arroyo was not only removed in less than 24 hours, but the job was done so well that I am sure it will last for a long time to come.

While wearing my other hat as President of the Forest Theater Guild I was assured by the City Council two weeks ago that the theater parking lot which had assumed a bad-lands aspect, would be graded. Since the use of this lot is somewhat limited in comparison with other public areas I assumed that we would be lucky if the job got done by summer. I have never been more mistaken. For some time now the lot has been both safe and comfortable, even for my MG.

What is important is that both these jobs were done as routine matters, not as personal favors. It is a great tribute to the street crews and to the planning and organization behind them that such things actually happen. Many thanks and a Merry Christmas to all concerned.

Sincerely,
Edgar Bryant

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
O. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

Each time that I travel on Highway 97 between Mount Shasta and Klamath Falls I am strongly tempted to turn east near Dorris and visit the Tule Lake Wildlife Refuge. It is only a few miles over a paved road and if it happens to be at a time of year when the ducks and geese are gathered on the lake, I can seldom resist the temptation. It is a thrilling experience to stand on the edge of the large body of water, watching the movements of the various species of wildfowl and listening to their restless cries. At times there are thousands of birds in sight from the edge of the main highway.

This wildlife refuge on the main Pacific Flyway, traveled each year by the birds as they migrate from their Canadian nesting grounds, has had a stormy history. It is the old story of a struggle between those wanting to drain all wildlife habitat for farming purposes and those who contend that birds and animals should be spared some of their traditional living space on the earth.

There is not space in this column to go into the involved situation at Tule Lake where the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the Fish and Wildlife Service have conflicting interests. I can only report the latest flaring up of the controversy, as described in the December 10 issue of the Outdoor News Bulletin, published by the Wildlife Management Institute of Washington, D. C.

It seems that a group of ten homesteaders were permitted to start in this area about five years ago an "agricultural gamble . . . despite the warnings of farming authorities that profitable operations could not be conducted in the semi-arid land". Now they are in distress and Assistant Secretary of the Interior Orme Lewis has on his desk a proposal to turn over about 900 acres of the Refuge to them in a land lottery.

If he grants it, the ducks and geese are losers once more. Approximately 70 percent of the birds on this Flyway are dependent on the already inadequate Tule Lake and Lower Klamath Refuges. The issue is: Are we going to allow these refuges to be whittled away by executive orders, as may be done now, or are we going to insist that they be safeguarded by law?

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

At some moment between December 21 and December 22, the winter solstice occurred. The book says the winter solstice is when the sun enters what is called the first degree, or seems to describe the tropic of Capricorn. Only the astronomer knows the exact moment of change, yet for general use, December 22 is the accepted day. Among some peoples, even today, the solstice signifies the planting period for certain crops.

Recently, on my trip through Arizona, we stopped at Casa Grande, the ruins of the old Pueblo Indian village. For many years, archaeologists were puzzled by two apertures in different parts of the ruins, that seemed to have no significance nor relation to each other. Today it is an accepted fact that on the day of the solstice, the sun can be seen through both of these openings, giving the ancient Indians a calendar for their planting season.

For us moderns, December is the best month for planting new trees and shrubs. There are so many flowering trees, so many flowering shrubs that are inexpensive and promise color for the garden through the years. Plumbago is a graceful shrub that blooms through our winter months. The flowers are a delicate blue. The bush is a sprawling, trailing specimen and can be trained either for bush or vine. When you say, "eucalyptus," everybody shudders at the thought of those great shaggy trees filling one's garden space. Yet there are many varieties of eucalyptus suitable for even a small garden. The red-flowering eucalyptus does not grow to gargantuan proportions. I have one that has been in my garden for ten years and to date the tree is only about eight feet tall. When the feathery red blossoms cover the limbs of this tree, it is really something to see.

The Datura is a popular tree in California. The common name is Angel's trumpet or Gabriel's trumpet. Great masses of tubular pure white flowers shower down from the branches, and the Datura is also a winter bloomer. Escallonia is specially valuable for its dark green foliage. It is sometimes called the "glacier-lily" plant. Escallonia flowers in deep red, warm pink and pure white. This is one of the easiest shrubs to propagate, either as a dense shrub, or graceful tree.

The Chinese toyon's foliage is tipped with red-gold leaves, and

Paul Mays' Mural To Hang Permanently In Co. Fair Building

The large circus murals painted by 18 artist members of the Carmel Art Association for the recent Artists' Ball, which everybody felt were too handsome to be hidden away after the party but which nobody seemed to know what to do with, have finally found happy and apparently permanent homes.

One of the murals, executed by Paul Mays, has been presented to the Monterey County Fair as a gift of the Art Association. The gay panel, a semi-abstract treatment of a circus scene, has been accorded a permanent place of honor over the main entrance inside the fair's Exhibition Hall. Measures are being taken now to frame the mural and preserve the surface.

The rest of the murals were auctioned off at the banquet of the Western Fairs Association. A number were purchased by managers of county fairs from all parts of the state, and will be incorporated into the decorative schemes of forthcoming fairs. Several others were purchased by local art lovers for home or office decorations. Proceeds of the auction went to the Art Association.

Artists who worked on the murals, in addition to Mays, were Donald Teague, Clarence Bates, Bruce Ariss, Dr. John Gratiot, when it blooms the flowers are a pale pink color. You can go on and on suggesting blooming shrubs for winter bloom and then fall right smack into the spring blooming shrubs and trees. My favorite spring bloomer is the red-flowering horse chestnut tree. Never before I came to California had I ever seen a horse chestnut tree bloom a glowing red. But I have one in my own garden that is my delight, and right now great swelling buds bid fair for my spring color.

The Star In The East

By CHARLES A. BOWMAN

In the night sky eastward over Carmel on this Christmas Eve, the planet Jupiter is brilliant. With binoculars, some of Jupiter's moons can be seen.

Even brighter, however, is Venus at this time, as the morning star to be seen—as the Wise Men from the east may well have seen it when they came to Jerusalem, saying: "Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him."

Venus is the brightest gem in this starry realm of Christmas, suspended on the wings of the morning ahead of sunrise. Near Venus is the much larger planet Saturn, to the south, but fainter in a far distant orbit.

It is a far cry from the Bible poetry of the heavenly bodies to the current science fiction of spacemen, or even to the popular lectures of the planetarium—as in the Golden Gate Park, where, in theater comfort, the audience can journey into space. In the Volume of the Sacred Law, early writers pictured the day star in a figurative sense. So, in Revelation, it is written: "And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end . . . I will give him a morning star."

The Wise Men in the east saw, in the birth of the Christ child, the dawning of a new light in the thinking, or in the heart, of mankind. It is more than coincidence that the first Biblical narrative of creation should begin with darkness on the face of the deep, "And God said, Let there be light: and there was light."

The beloved old pagan Omar Khayyam began the Rubaiyat with the heralding of light: Wake! For the sun who scatter'd into flight The stars before him from the Field of Night, Drives night along with them from Heav'n, and strikes

The Sultan's Turret with a Shaft of Light.

It is intriguing to read of the current planning of space ships behind barricades in secret places. They will doubtless be built, too, at no distant date. In a booklet of the California Academy of Sciences, titled Journey into Space, by Hubert J. Bernhard, the possibilities of reaching a neighboring planet are discussed. The author says:

"That day will come, almost certainly, though it may be in the far future rather than in the near tomorrows. When it does . . . could Columbus have guessed what his discovery was to mean in the 500 years that followed?"

It is surely a vain pursuit to guess what the voyage to the arid plains of Mars would mean, or to the icebound mass of Saturn in an atmosphere of ammonia.

Of speculation about the riddle of the universe, Omar Khayyam wrote:

Myself when young did eagerly frequent

Doctor and Saint, and heard great argument About it and about: but evermore Came out by the same door where in I went.

It is true that men of science like Nicholas Copernicus—five hundred years ago, and down through the centuries—have broadened human vision of the universe in terms of space and time. They have so measured it mathematically that space and time have literally been explained away.

The 500 years of history since Columbus, and the 500 years to follow, are but as one evening or one morning, as compared with stellar measurements of time. From sun to earth is about 93,000,000 miles. It takes eight minutes for light to traverse this distance. When the sun is seen setting on the ocean's rim westward from Carmel's shore, it has actually been completely below the horizon for several minutes.

But it takes 500 years for the light of some stars to reach this planet. The bright star Rigel, in the right foot of Orion, is 16,000 times the

TOWARDS CHRISTMAS

*The world is strangely beautiful tonight
A single star is lit above the pines—
The earth is dark and silent. Nothing shines
But that serene evangel of the light.
It almost seems as though a voice should speak
Among the listening leaves; as though the sky
Held some great tidings eloquent on high
But still inaudible to those who seek.*

*Perhaps the holy season drawing near
Has shone ahead its message from the star,
And filled the night with innocence and love.
It is the heart that feels the mystery here
And knows beyond the earthly things that are
The shining evidence of those above.*

—DORA HAGEMEYER

CHRISTMAS BELLS

*The ox and ass kneel down to pray,
O hear the bells, the cattle bells!
As flowers bloom upon the hay.
O hear the tinkling bells!
The shepherds who have left their sheep
For angel bands to watch and keep
Have found the Christ Child fast asleep.
O hear the tinkling bells!*

*Three Wise Men cross the starlit sand;
O hear the bells, the camel bells!
They journey from an eastern land.
O hear the jingling bells!
They see the promised Prince of Light
And give him presents rich and bright,
Then travel homeward through the night.
O hear the jingling bells!*

*The news has flown around the earth;
O hear the bells, the Christmas bells!
They chime of Jesus' manger birth!
O hear the pealing bells!
Let every soul beneath the sun
Proclaim the marvel God has done
And magnify his Blessed One!
O hear the pealing bells!*

—ROBERT J. RICHARDSON

JOURNEY

*Come, take my hand dear,
You and I will go
Whispering softly
Through falling stars of snow.*

*In the wonder of whiteness
Innocence is young
From the lips of children
"Oh Holy Night" is sung.*

*Shepherds bells are ringing
Into the hushed white air—
The quiet holds a reverence
Love is everywhere!*

Christmas Eve At The Hospital

By SKIPPER ACKROYD

One of the most rewarding duties of a Red Cross Gray Lady is to go around the wards on Christmas Eve with Santa Claus when he gives out presents to patients in the hospital.

For weeks beforehand, surrounded by cartons of gifts, piles of gay wrapping papers and spools of bright ribbons, the Gray Ladies have sorted out and packed enough presents so that no one will be forgotten at Christmas time. Every man gets a parcel of candy, cigarettes, playing cards, and a special gift from the Red Cross such as a wallet, pocket photo framer for those precious mementoes of home or a pencil and pen set to remind him that they love to hear from him. For the women patients who are all relatives of military personnel, and have their families to look after them, there are flowers and a small present, such as a dainty handkerchief. The children receive a toy suitable to their age.

In the afternoon of Christmas Eve a Gray Lady goes around the wards and from the nurses and wardmen gets some data on every man in the hospital: his name, home state, nickname, hobby or something about him for Santa to use when he gives out the presents in the evening. (Santa's knowledge of them always puzzles the men until they figure out who must have told him!)

Meanwhile carts are brought out to be decorated and filled. Ordinarily they are used to carry the books, magazines and crafts around the wards, but tonight they serve another purpose. Decorated with masses of evergreens, red satin ribbons and glistening silver tinsel, they are loaded with piles of polished apples, oranges and bowls full of nuts and platters of cookies. And what cookies! All sorts of sizes, kinds and colors—Santas, trees, stars and gingerbreadmen. What hours of loving work must have gone into their making for every one is homemade. Can't you hear a boyish voice exclaim, "Gee, these are just like Mom always made for Christmas at home!" and you know that a sympathetic Gray Lady will stop by his bed for a few minutes to chat about his home.

When all is ready, down to the last ribbon, Santa himself enters the picture, clad in his wonderful fur-trimmed suit, his beautiful white hair and beard, his shiny black boots and belt, his rosy cheeks and nose, and last, but by no means least, his portly figure. Be careful that pillow doesn't slip, Santa!

Then the procession is formed and wends its way slowly through the still, dimly lit corridors, until the first ward is reached. The doors open quietly to show a heart-touching sight, a silent ward, no radios playing, no one talking, no sound at all. Lying still in their beds are two rows of homesick boys with hearts too full of tears for any rejoicing.

Suddenly a change comes over the scene, Santa enters shouting, "A Merry Christmas to all" and the whole ward comes awake. Heads are lifted off pillows, those who can, sit up in their beds, and from one and all, in a whisper if they can't shout, comes a glad, "Merry Christmas to you, Santa Claus." Now all is fun and laughter, Santa gives out the presents, chaffing the men as he does and telling jokes which have them all in stitches. Being a soldier himself he knows what will amuse them most. Soon they are all calling back to him and the whole ward echoes with merriment. Even the very sick chuckle quietly to themselves. Meanwhile, Gray Ladies, nurses and wardmen are giving out flowers, fruit and cookies to everybody. No special diets tonight.

Then when everyone has been made as happy as possible, the procession is re-formed and moves on to the next ward, when the scene is repeated. When all of the men's wards have

Taplin-Verish Wedding

Mrs. Arlene Taplin of Carmel and Sgt. 1/c Steve C. Verish, Jr., of Pennsylvania, a student at the Army Language School, were married Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Wayfarer.

The 2:00 o'clock service, witnessed by family members and a few close friends of the bride and groom, was read by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray before the altar decorated with Christmas greens, candles and deep red carnations. Standing up with the couple were Mrs. Taplin's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taplin of Pacific Grove. Guests at the wedding included the bride's younger son, Dennis Taplin, and Mr. and Mrs. William Merrill of Carmel.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Verish returned to Carmel early this week following a short honeymoon trip, and are making their home on Junipero near Twelfth Street. Their future plans depend upon the Army, since Sgt. Verish will graduate from the Russian Department of the Language School in February and may possibly be assigned to duty abroad.

In the meantime, the Verishes are enjoying a holiday visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kearns of Modesto. Sharing in the family get-together over Christmas weekend are the Kearns' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kearns, and grandson Gary, also of Carmel. Mrs. Verish's sons, Dennis and Richard Taplin, along with Dick's wife and their two children are spending Christmas in Salt Lake City with Mrs. Taplin's parents, the Bryan Petersens, and will return to the Peninsula New Year's Day.

Kusters Holiday in So. Calif.

The Ted Kusters and daughter Marcia will leave today for Los Angeles, where they will spend the holiday weekend with friends and relatives. Son Colin Kuster will enjoy Christmas here with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feek, who are missing their own offspring for Christmas for the first time. The Feeks' daughters, Linda and Judy, along with fellow Carmelite Sylvia Heinselman, are in the midst of their tour of Europe, and are spending the holiday on the island of Majorca. The three girls will be leaving shortly for skiing in Austria.

McKinstry's Reunited

Joyce McKinstry flew in Tuesday from the east to spend the holiday here with her family, the Paul McKinstry's. She will remain here until the first of the year, then return to New York and her job as dean of women at Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie.

Highlands Firehouse Party Wed.

The annual Carmel Highlands Fire Department Christmas party will be held at the Highlands firehouse Wednesday evening, December 29, at 6:30 o'clock.

All Highlanders and their families are invited to the potluck affair, which is sponsored by the Highlands Association in honor of the volunteer firemen. As a result of the party, the association hopes to raise at least $150 for the firemen's fund, half of which will go into the emergency fund and half into the "coffee and doughnuts treasury".

Chairman of the party committee is Mrs. R. P. Douglas, who asks that Highlands residents not previously contacted get in touch with her at 7-7273 to confirm whether they want to contribute food for the party, or money for the fund, or both.

Family Get-Together at Ricketts

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ricketts will entertain a good-sized family group for Christmas dinner tomorrow. Down from Palo Alto for the occasion will be Mrs. Ricketts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Lang. Gene's father, Walter Ricketts, his sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McGuckin and the Scott Murphys and their two children will all be coming over from Monterey.

The Ricketts' daughter, Pat, expects to be home in time for Christmas from a ski trip to Badger Pass, where she's been enjoying the early snow along with Lynn McMath, Sally Spurr, Sarah McCloud and Sarah's father, Walter McCloud. Only member of the Ricketts family who won't be around this year is son Mike, who has just completed a course of instruction at a Marine communications school in Korea.

CARMEL CAGERS BREAK EVEN AT MORGAN HILL

Winning the lightweight clash by a comfortable 50-29 margin and losing to the Live Oak varsity by an uncomfortable 54-28 drubbing, Carmel High's basketball players plunge into their Christmas Vacation with the lightweights leading the league with a 2-0 record and the varsity firmly ensconced in the cellar with a 0-2 rating. At Morgan Hill last Friday night, the Red & Grey hoopsters ran into two good basketball squads bent on handing the Padres a pair of defeats. The Live Oak lightweights made a great game of it for the first three quarters as the third-period score found the limiters in a 27-27 deadlock. However, the Padrecitos caught fire with their fast break in the final heat to rack up 21 points and salt the game away, 50 to 29. Behind, 24 to 10, at the end of the first half, Carmel's varsity couldn't get untracked at any stage of the game as the swift Live Oak sharpshooters hit on 58 percent of their field goal attempts to manufacture a well-earned rout over the favored Padre heavyweights.

With three players hitting for double digits, the Live Oak varsity put on the finest shooting exhibition in prep circles this season as Green and White deadeyes hit from up close, medium long, and any spot within fifty feet. Besides being extremely accurate on their field goal attempts the newcomers to the B division of the CCAL enjoyed a fine night at the free-throw line, connecting on 16 out of 22 to take full advantage of the new bonus shot rule.

As compared to Live Oak's 58 percent shooting average, the ice cold Padres hit on 16 percent of the field goal attempts and were successful on 10 free throws in 21 tries. Mike Mosolf, skinny Padre forward, led the Carmel scorers with an eight-point effort with George Wightman in the runner-up spot with seven markers.

Led by Ron Huffman's fine seven-point effort in the first half, the Little Padres enjoyed a 19-13 bulge at the intermission but gave way slightly in the third period when the hosting lightweight squad knotted the count at 27-27. A fine team effort in the fourth quarter which saw eight players register points for the Padrecitos was too much for the hard-trying Live Oak lads as McCormack & Company rang up their 21-point quarter. Lightweight scoring was pretty well divided with Merv Sutton's 11, Ron Huffman's 9, Bill McCormack's 8, Jim Konrad's 10, and 4 apiece for Mark Hildebrand and Dick Albertson. Fourteen players participated in the second league win for the Little Padres and they all turned in fine team efforts to keep the Babes in contention for league honors.

League rules prohibit basketball practice or play during Christmas Vacation period so the Padres will be absent from the court until January 3rd when they resume practice for a pair of games with Palma (Salinas) and Junipero Serra (Monterey).

THROUGH THE HOOP

An ambitious Carmel Sport Shop basketball team is open for business and willing to take on all challengers at any time. Under the direction of Coach Don Prince, the Sports are mainly former Carmel High performers who have the game in their blood. Coach Prince has entered the local cagers in the Monterey Christmas tournament and will have them firing in the Pacific Grove league after the first of the year. Top gunner on the Sport Shop five is Gene Vandervort, considered by many to be the finest set shot in the history of the CCAL. Deadly when allowed to get set for his smooth one-handers, the fiery red-head can also drive with the best of them. A speedy forward duo of Dick Weer and Walt Frey spearhead the Sports on the fast break attack engineered by guards Prince and Owen Greenan. . . .

Home from college, anxious for some basketball competition with former Padres are Neils Reimers, Oregon State; Hans and Frans Doelman, University of California; Lee Laugenour, San Jose State; Skipper Lloyd, Stanford; Mike McPherson, Naval Academy, and Bob Campbell, University of Arizona. An Alumni Tournament for graduating classes following 1950 is slated for next Wednesday night when the creaking old grads can tread the boards once more and find out how much longer the basketball court has stretched since they graduated. . . . Sparkplug of the Monterey Peninsula College basketball squad this season is Carmel's hoiler guy, Bobby Updike, who has been directing the Lobo attack from a guard position. The Lobos are currently engaged in the Hartnell JG Tournament at Salinas but have been relegated to the consolation bracket as a result of dropping a narrow decision to Coalinga Junior College. Jumping Jerry Colman, another ex-Adre, is a number one reserve on Coach Don Borden's quick-breaking ball club.

Coach Ed Larsh at Monterey High appears to have one of the strongest prep teams in Northern California as the Toreadores continue to roll over all opposition.

Outdoor telephone booths get new look

Here's the kind of telephone booth you'll see us using in many outdoor installations from now on. And we think you'll like it a lot. Instead of wood, it has a silvery-white aluminum frame, with big glass panels that will give you better lighting. You'll also find it roomier and better ventilated than the wooden models. These handsome new booths cost less to take care of, too . . . and last longer. They help us bring you more and better telephone service at low cost. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Save time—check doubtful numbers before you call you're in doubt about them. You'll complete your calls faster and save yourself a good deal of trouble in the long run.

Lots of times—especially when people are in a hurry to talk to someone—it's a temptation to call a telephone number they're not quite sure of. But studies we've made show that a caller often winds up getting the wrong party in cases like this. For memory can play strange tricks with telephone numbers. And, of course, this means inconvenience and wasted time. That's why we suggest you look up numbers in your directory whenever

Linda Meets Santa

One day this week, Mrs. Sharon Prolette, one of our operators, was showing her daughter, Linda, the Christmas decorations at our Monterey office. Lou Maracci, our Chief-Switchman, seeing the little visitor arose to the occasion by substituting for Santa Claus. Lou then greeted Linda and presented her with a gift as a token of the Christmas spirit.

It is in this spirit that Mrs. Prolette, her daughter Linda, Lou Maracci and all of the many telephone employees on the Peninsula extend a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to All. PACIFIC TELEPHONE.

magnitude of this earth's sun. The light seen from Rigel tonight started out to traverse the distance to this earth before Columbus was born. It will be more than 500 years before people on earth see the light that is actually projected from Rigel tonight.

A British scientist, Sir James Jeans, has written of this present period in human history:

"Taking a very gloomy view of the future of the human race, let us suppose that it can only expect to survive for two thousand million years longer, a period about equal to the past age of the Earth. Then, regarded as a being destined to live for three-score years and ten, Humanity, although it has been born in a house only seventy years old, is itself only three days old. . . . Utterly inexperienced beings, we are standing at the first flush of the dawn of civilization."

We may even be still "asleep in the cradle of infancy", as an American woman of scientific vision has put it.

The searcher along the path of science may well come to be on the same path as the searcher for God. For the humble, the light may continue to come spiritually, as it has in years goneby, whether in Bible language or in such poetry as Goethe's verse:

In currents of life, in tempests of motion,
In fervor of act, in the fire, in the storm,

Hither and thither,
Over and under,
Wend I and wander:
Birth and grave,
Limitless ocean,
Where the restless wave
Undulates ever,
Under and over
Their seething strife
Heaving and weaving
The changes of life.

At the whirling loom of Time
unawed
I work the living mantle of God.

Opening For Two On Police Force; Andy, Johnny Both Leave

Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann is in the market for two first class, Jimdandy patrolmen for the Carmel Police Department.

The department's rolls will be depleted of one patrolman December 31, John Weigold, and another on February 1, Andy Del Monte. Johnny, who has worked for the department for a little over a year, offered his resignation this week, saying he's leaving to go to barber college in Fresno.

Del Monte, who has been on the force since 1947, will reach retirement age on February 1 and will be eligible for state pension.

Chief Klaumann says he wants men between the ages of 25 and 35. The job pays $296 per month to start, with scheduled raises, and state insurance and retirement. The applicants are given a written examination as well as a personal interview with the chief. Klaumann prefers home town men.

Free Puppet Show For Children Tues. At Golden Bough

A special holiday gift to children will be presented Tuesday afternoon by the Carl Cherry Foundation in the second of two programs by the puppet theatre of John Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin.

Tuesday's puppet show, which will take place at 2:30 o'clock at the Golden Bough Playhouse, will feature the traditional English holiday event, The Tragical Comedy of Mr. Punch. The special children's show will also include three shorter puppet plays, entitled A Ballet for Rabbits, The Trained Seal and The Juggler.

There is no charge for the program, which is part of the Cherry Foundation's annual Christmas gift to the community. Adults who missed the earlier Geddis-Martin been visited, it is time to go to the women's and children's wards.

The children are deeply impressed with Santa Claus and delighted with their presents, so tonight the nurses allow a little extra time for play. Everyone stops to admire the new-born babies through the window and secretly longs to take them up and cuddle them. One of the Gray Ladies says, "Whenever I see a small baby it always makes me want another one of my own, for all I'm a grandmother now!"

From the babies the procession moves on to call on the mothers, who lie in bed surrounded by admiring relatives and friends. It would do your heart good to hear the pride with which they say, "Mine's the baby with the bluest eyes," or the longest hair, or the sweetest smile.

After this a tired but happy procession wends its way back again, fully agreed that no one would have missed it for anything and that the patients' pleasure was more than recompense for all the hard work entailed. And so the evening ends with, "A Merry Christmas and may we all be here to do it all over again next year!"

Beshore-Shrum Wedding

The Church of the Wayfarer was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon of Mary Lou Beshore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Beshore of Carmel, and William Frederick Shrum, a student at the Army Language School.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray performed the double-ring ceremony, which took place before the candlelit altar holiday-decorated in silver and red carnations. Connell Caruth played the organ selections preceding the service, while Fred Larr was vocal soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant chapel-length gown of embroidered white nylon tulle over taffeta, with long, pointed sleeves and a double satin-bound Peter Pan collar. Her fingertip veil cascaded from a Juliet cap trimmed in seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white baby orchids tied with white streamers.

Mrs. Robert Keightley Beshore of Los Angeles, the bride's sister-in-law, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length gown of white satin and nylon tulle, accented by a headdress and bouquet of deep red carnations and holly.

Robert K. Beshore, was best man. The ushers, friends of the groom, were Lts. Bruce Kinner and Victor Maslakov of the Language School.

The reception was held at the church. Assisting Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray were the Misses Hope Hasty, Allison Cathro and Katherine Klay.

The bride was graduated from Marion High School and Browne School for Girls at Glendora, and attended Indiana University. She is a member of the P.E.O. Sisterhood and Phi Epsilon Iota. Lt. Shrum, a graduate of Penn State, is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, as well as Phi Sigma Iota, national romance language honorary fraternity and of Philanthropy Lodge 225. He is now in the Chinese Mandarin department at the Language School, and will make his career in the Army.

Directly following the ceremony, Lt. and Mrs. Shrum left for Greensburg, Pennsylvania, where they will spend Christmas with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Shrum. After their return they will make their home in Carmel.

Lee Laugenour Graduates

Lee Laugenour, a 1950 graduate of Carmel High School, received his bachelor's degree in business administration at winter commencement exercises held Saturday afternoon at San Jose State College.

Lee's graduation provided an occasion for celebration by members of his family and several close friends, who gave a luncheon party in his honor preceding the commencement at the Hotel Sainte Claire. Among those present were Lee's mother, Mrs. Annetta Lee Laugenour, his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lee, and his brother, Robert, all of Carmel, as well as Miss Joan Koenig of Lodi, a student at San Jose State.

Following the cap-and-gown ceremony, Lee returned with his family to Carmel for the Christmas holiday. He'll return to San Jose shortly after the first of the year to take up his new job as representative for S & W Foods in the San Jose area.

Lee will be home again over the weekend of January 29, when he will be head usher at the wedding of his brother, Bob, and Miss Ann De Vaughn of Pacific Grove, at the Church of the Wayfarer. Bob, who is also home for the holidays, is in his sophomore year at San Jose State, where both he and Lee are affiliated with Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Christmas in Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Gibson left Carmel early this week for San Francisco, and will arrive at Honolulu in time to celebrate Christmas Hawaiian style. The couple sailed for the Islands Tuesday aboard the Lurline for the special Christmas Cruise.

Danielz-Lyon Engagement

Plans for a summer wedding were revealed Monday by two young Carmelites, Marcia Danielz and Peter Duffie Lyon, whose engagement has been announced by bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Danielz of Hatton Fields.

The two young people, both graduates of Carmel High School, are spending the holidays here with their families. For Peter, the son of Carmel's mayor Horace D. Lyon and Mrs. Lyon, this means just a trip over the hill from the Presidio of Monterey, where he is a student in the Russian Department of the Army Language School. Marcia is on vacation from Stanford University, where she is in her senior year, majoring in psychology.

The bride-elect came here with her family in 1948 from Minneapolis, Minnesota, and graduated from the high school in 1952. Following the holidays, she will return to Stanford to complete work for her graduation in June.

She is the sister of Greg Danielz, a senior at Carmel High, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Danielz of Minneapolis and the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gregory of Minneapolis and Huntington Palisades.

Peter has lived in Carmel since 1937, and graduated from Carmel High in 1950. He enlisted in the Army following his graduation last June from Stanford, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and will graduate from the Language School in the fall of 1955.

He has three sisters, Mrs. Charles J. Gibbs of Orinda, Miss Margaret Lyon of Berkeley, and Mrs. David B. Gideon of Oakland, and is a nephew of the late Duncan McDuffie and Mrs. McDuffie of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. William C. McDuffie of Santa Barbara.

A reception in honor of the young people will take place sometime during the holidays.

Home From Annapolis

By dint of hitch-hiking a lift on a Navy plane from Maryland to Moffett Field, Roderick A. Dresser arrived here this week to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Dresser.

Rod, who graduated in 1950 from Carmel High, is a second-classman at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, having just completed the first term of his third year. His class has been granted Christmas leave until January 2, which means that Rod will probably have to be hunting up his return flight on New Year's Eve.

Gargiulo Island Reunion

A family reunion in Hawaii was the anticipation of Mr. and Mrs. William Gargiulo, who left Monday from San Francisco bound for the Islands.

The Gargiulos will spend Christmas at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gargiulo, in Honolulu. Bill is a student at the University of Honolulu, while his wife, the former June Stratton, works at Queen's Hospital. She is the daughter of Dr. Ernest Stratton of Carmel.

Also present for the Christmas reunion will be the Gargiulos' other son, Dick, whom the Army has accommodately stationed in Pearl Harbor for the time being. Dick recently completed a tour of duty in Korea.

The Gargiulos planned to return home to Carmel shortly after the first of the year.

The Howard Levinsons' Party

The spirit of the season was in full stride at the Christmas was-sail presented last week by the Howard Levinsons at their home in Carmel Hills. The holiday event was also a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot, who have left on a three-week business trip to Europe. While the Talbots are flying around France, Switzerland, Spain and England, their six-year-old son, Robbie, is spending the holidays with the Levinsons and their two youngsters.

Joining the Levinsons and Talbots in cocktails around the Christmas tree were Mr. and Mrs. Webster Street, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. John Rennels, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strasburger, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Dedini, Mrs. Cush Burke, Miss Dorothy Druhe, Mrs. Louise Ingram, Stanley Ewig and Mr. Levinson's mother, Mrs. Helen Levinson.

Williams-Criley Christmas

Ensign and Mrs. Ben T. Chaffey (Bee Williams) are down from Northern California to spend the Christmas holiday with Bee's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, in the Highlands, and to visit Ben's people, Mrs. Priscilla Chaffey and John Chaffey, in Monterey. Bee and Ben now make their home at Fort Bragg, where he is stationed with the Coast Guard.

Joining the Williamses and Chaffey for Christmas dinner tomorrow will be Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. T. M. Criley, and her son and daughter-in-law, the Richard Crileys, who are visiting here from Chicago.

Streets to Oakland

Toby and Lois Street and son Jeremy will be driving up to Oakland tomorrow to spend Christmas Day with her mother, Mrs. Paul de Luchi, and sister Mrs. Evelyn Dealey. The Streets will be home Sunday to complete arrangements for a big pre-New Year's party.

Town House Holiday Party

All members and friends of the Carmel Foundation are invited to attend the annual Town House Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. There will be no formal program, but gifts will be exchanged and refreshments served. Everyone is asked to bring a small, inexpensive gift, suitably wrapped.

Reunions, Family and Other

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clark and daughter Priscilla leave this afternoon for Atherton, where they will spend Christmas Eve and the holiday weekend with Mrs. Clark's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Keyes, and their family.

The Clarks plan to return home Sunday, but Priscilla will go on to San Francisco to be on hand for the American Field Service California Reunion on Monday and Tuesday. Present for the occasion will be several hundred students who, like Priscilla, have participated in A.F.S.-sponsored trips to Europe, as well as foreign students attending school in this country under A.F.S. auspices. Priscilla is one of the principal backers of the current foreign student fund drive now under way at Carmel High School.

Only missing member of the Clark family over the holiday will be their son, Elton, who will be spending Christmas with friends in the east. His ship, the USS Cotten, is now in port at Boston. He hopes to be home on leave in February.

Future Son-In-Law Visits Suttons

Joining the Ray Sutton family for the Christmas weekend is Augustine Jelesko of Cupertino, who will claim Myrna Sutton for his bride early next year.

This Christmas Eve, the Suttons and their guest will visit with members of their family in Monterey, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sutton and Mrs. Mary Rogers. Tomorrow, after the traditional family doings at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, their son Mervyn, Myrna and her fiancé will all drive over to Hollister to spend the afternoon with Augie's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. John Norton.

Myrna and Augie have set February 19 as the date for their wedding, which will take place in the Church of the Wayfarer. Myrna, a 1953 graduate of Carmel High, has been attending Monterey Peninsula College. Augie, a San Jose State alumnus, is now in business in San Jose, where he and Myrna will live following their marriage.

Milams in England

Christmas cards from former Carmelites Hal and Martha Milam inform their friends here that they are now in Croydon, Surrey, and planning to leave England shortly for a tour of Europe and perhaps an extended stay in Spain.

The Milams lived for several years in Pebble Beach, and moved in 1952 to Kentfield where they built a home.

Big Family Visits Mrs. Klene

There's never a dull moment these days around the home of Mrs. L. W. Klene in Carmel Valley. Here from Idaho for a two week holiday visit are Mrs. Klene's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Agatin Abbott, and their six children, who range in age from nine months to 12 years.

The Abbotts make their home in Moscow, Idaho, where Dr. Abbott is professor of geology at the University of Idaho. Mrs. Abbott is also a geologist, while the six children have a lively interest in several sciences. The family interests generally include music and dancing—several of the Abbotts play instruments and the two older girls are promising young ballerinas—as well as rock-hunting, stamp collecting, hiking and other outdoor sports.

On Sunday, Mrs. Klene, the Abbotts and the children—Paula, Willa, Margo, Sandy, Tommy and Ethan—joined a party of Mrs. Klene's friends and assorted children for a picnic and holiday excursion which ended up somewhere in the vicinity of Chews Ridge. Object of the trip was to find Christmas greens, trees, Yule logs, pine cones, mistletoe and other bits of flora which might be incorporated into holiday decorations. Others who participated in the excursion were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Conlan, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vial, Mr. and Mrs. F. Robert Smith, Jake Kenney, Marie Short and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Colburn, the latter of whom entertained many of the same group at a Christmas open-house at their studio home in Carmel Woods on Saturday night.

Lehmans Entertain Military

Hans Lehmann has a five-day leave from clerk-typist school at Fort Ord, and will be bringing over some of his Army buddies to share Christmas dinner with him and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann. The Lehmans' other son, Klaus, is with the Army in Korea.

its official "greeter" and "contact man." In this latter capacity he raised a million and a half dollars for the institution. The post with the hospital came after he had served fifteen years as chief deputy tax collector for Santa Clara County, and his immediate superior was so inconsiderate as to lose an election. Chris, out of a job, set up a bookkeeping and accounting service of his own in San Jose. Then San Jose Hospital, a private non-profit institution, sought him out because of his record in the court house, both for administrative skill and popularity. The hospital board was not aware that Chris' first job, in his native San Francisco, had been that of manager of the Marine Hospital and later, business manager of the U. S. Immigration Hospital on Angel Island. This had been interrupted by service in the Army Medical Corps in World War I. Following the war, he had taken the San Jose Courthouse job, convinced he was through with hospitals.

His fourteen years at San Jose Hospital were followed by three years as cost accountant and statistician of the County Hospital in Salinas, a "retirement job" he took after he came to live in Carmel. He was forced to retire from this position because of state retirement age regulations, but was able to work for the City of Carmel because Carmel was not under the state plan.

During his year and a half in the service of the city he has done his share of community work as well, notably, as chairman of the fund drive for the Church of the Wayfarer.

Maura Murphy Makes Hit In Television Role

Medal of Honor.
Maura Murphy — Helen Lane's stage name — was so dignified, so beautiful in the part of Dr. Mary Walker that she made me realize how rarely we see real beauty and nobility in the movies. The ideal of the film-makers seems to be prettiness, prettiness raised, with the aid of cosmetics, to the nth degree, it is true, but still prettiness, not beauty. Even through the smog Maura seemed to me one of the most beautiful actresses I have ever seen. With true artistic integrity she made no overt use of her beauty or her charm in this part, but showed Miss Walker as the firm, stubborn, almost harsh-voiced fanatic that any pioneer must be when she has the convictions and prejudices of her whole world to contend with. Only in the expression in her eyes, when she saw her first war wounded, when she was asked to leave a tent full of wounded soldiers who had been taken prisoner, did we realize what a passion of sympathy for suffering inspired and gave meaning to Dr. Walker's life.

Miss Lane has just returned to Hollywood from Hawaii, where she had one of the two women's parts in a new film made there under that great director, John Ford, of Informer fame.

Cavalcade of America, is, perhaps, the best of present television shows and I shall hope to see Maura on it again.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON
The everpresent power of God which brings courage, joy, and healing to men of all ages, wherever it is understood, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" will include the following selection from the Bible (Matthew 2:1, 2): "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following passage (10924): "When a new spiritual idea is borne to earth, the prophetic Scripture of Isaiah is renewedly fulfilled: 'Unto us a child is born, . . . and his name shall be called Wonderful.'"

The Golden Text is from II Peter (1:21): "The prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."

Carmel Churches Announce Services For Christmas

at 10:30 o'clock, with a musical prelude. The choir, under the direction of Robert Forbes, will sing carols at the door of the chapel to greet early arrivals, while Dan Marshall will play a series of organ selections. Among the special numbers to be sung by the choir are Sing Ye Noel and As Lately We Watched, arranged by James Allen Dash, and Joseph Came Seeking a Resting Place by Ernest Willoughby. Included in Mr. Marshall's organ recital will be Handel's Concerto No. 1 for Organ in B-Flat Major and two selections by Richard Purvis.

All Saints' midnight service will begin at 11:00 o'clock with the processional, O Come All Ye Faithful, arranged by organist Marshall for brass instruments, organ and choir. Soloists will be Jon Menand and Jerry Norwald, trumpets, and Barbara Mitchell, French horn. During the offertory, the choir will sing Randall Thompson's Alleluia. The Christmas Eve sermon will be preached by the Rev. Angus Dun. Holy Communion will be served.

Holy Communion will also be taken at a special Christmas Day service at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at All Saints', during which Mr. Dun will repeat his Christmas Eve sermon. On Sunday, Holy Communion will be taken at 8:00 o'clock, with morning prayer at 11:00 o'clock. In place of a sermon, the rector will read Christmas lessons from the prayer book, while the choir will sing Christmas hymns and carols between each reading. There will be no 9:30 o'clock family service this Sunday.

The Carmel Presbyterian Church, while it offers no Christmas Eve or Christmas Day services, will have a Yuletide theme for its service Sunday at 11:00 o'clock in the Carmel Woman's Club. The boys' and girls' choir will sing carols and Luther's Cradle Hymn. Dr. Harry Clayton Rogers' sermon will be entitled Thanks Be To God and You For Your First Year in Carmel, commemorating the founding of the church in January of this year. Final drawings of the new church edifice will be displayed during the service Sunday.

The Needler

By Beth

A little boy here in town has had his Christmas saddened by the loss of his camera. It was misplaced or accidentally picked up at the Christmas exercises last Friday afternoon at Sunset School. It is small and resembles a miniature movie camera. The lad is heart-broken because it was a pre-Christmas gift from his Dad who is in Korea. If anyone finds it, will he or she phone 8-0626. Besides, there is a reward.

Christmas greetings to: Bettie Greene for having taught riding and the love of horses to over half of the kids in Carmel for the past twenty-five years . . . to the Carmel merchants for their extremely attractive window decorations this Yuletide Season . . . to the Carmel Red Cross for many reasons, but specifically for the excellent brunch they serve to Blood Bank donors . . . to Ruthie McElroy for just being McElroy . . . to Ted Kuster for his zealous interest in the theater and for the many fine plays he has produced at the Golden Bough over the long period of years . . . to Carmel service families who are separated from their husbands or fathers by reason of overseas duty . . . to Bert Heron for his love of Shakespeare and the fine dramas he has directed at the Forest Theater . . . to the many who work all year long to make the Carmel Bach Festival one of the most important musical events in the country . . . to Daisy Bostick for keeping alive the traditions of an earlier-day Carmel . . . to Pop Smith for being forever young in heart . . . and to old Santa himself for bringing love and cheer to us weary mortals each year.

Now comes my annual problem. The older I get the more difficult it becomes to adjust myself to change, and the change I have in mind is the one that occurs on January 1 of each year. It usually takes me until about May to write the proper year and I do not doubt that 1955 will be any exception. It will still be 1954 to me.

In the December 22, 1915, issue of the Pine Cone we note a For Rent ad which reads: Four cottages, $7.50, $10, $15, $20. Bath and electricity; piano in $20 house.

Learned this week about a man, a former Carmelite, who is now teaching in one of the Seaside schools. All of the children were given homework to do, and the next day all of the children but one turned in their work. This man chastised the lad and asked why he had failed to do his assignment. The child replied: "I don't have to study. I am a retarded child."

Understand that the Carmel Lions were "different" this Yuletide season. On their Tuesday night meeting they did not have a Christmas party, as you might expect. Instead they heard a talk on income tax by Accountant Joseph McCloskey. The speaker says he tried to brighten up his speech and inject a cheery note, but feels he failed miserably.

Kids! Don't forget the annual Lions Club Christmas party at the Carmel Theater at 10:00 o'clock on Christmas morning. There will be a free movie and gifts of candy and apples, all supplied through the generosity of the Lions and the Carmel Theater management. Everyone is invited, so clear out of the house and let your mothers get going on that festive bird.

Frederick Pogge

Frederick Henry Pogge, 52, proprietor of the Sea View Inn on Camino Real and Twelfth Avenue, was found dead by his physician, December 17, in his apartment at the inn. Death is believed to have occurred sometime last Tuesday or Wednesday, and was attributed to a heart condition for which he had been under treatment for several months.

A native of Hamburg, Germany, Mr. Pogge was born March 14, 1902. He had lived in Carmel for the past 10 years, during which time he had owned and managed the Sea View Inn. He was an accountant by profession.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Gladys deRaay Pogge, who makes her home in Santa Monica, and sev-

Tryouts For New Guild Play Tues.

The Guild Hall Players of the Forest Theater will hold final readings for Detective Story on Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Cole Weston, director, has announced that no parts have been definitely cast, and none will be cast until after next week's readings when the cast will be notified individually.

The first rehearsal of Detective Story will be held on January 4, and production is scheduled for February 18. Any and all interested persons are urged to attend next week's reading, not only for parts in Detective Story, but for Three Men on a Horse and My Heart is in the Highlands, which have been scheduled for production and for which casts are needed.

The Guild also plans to have a Christmas party and entertainment for members and guests in the Guild Hall on Tuesday, December 28 at 8:00 o'clock. Walter Bernard, first vice-president, is in charge of arrangements for the party.

P.G. MUSEUM SHOWS TWO NEW EXHIBITS, BUTTERFLIES

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History is again showing its extensive collection of Butterflies of California in a holiday exhibition to remain through January 4. The museum also has two new exhibitions of native fauna, one of flat fishes and coral from Monterey Bay and the other of three varieties of snakes common in Monterey County.

Museum hours are 10:00 to 4:00 o'clock daily except Monday. The museum will be closed both Christmas Day and New Year's.
